

Lisa Plachy:

"The DePaul Honors Program provided a larger context to my education while expanding my opportunities at DePaul. I found my Honors classes provided a welcome contrast to my advertising classes, while simultaneously bolstering my creative writing endeavors.

When you join the Honors Program, you join a circle of critical thinkers, readers, debaters, artists, writers, and more. DePaul as a whole was a very what-you-make-of-it experience for me and the Honors Program gave me access to the very best opportunities. It provided a freedom of expression I never expected, spurred lifelong connections, and challenged me to open up my worldview."
